Play Tryouts To Be Held Tuesday Nite

Tryouts for "Goodbye, My Fancy," first major dramatic production of the year, will be held Tuesday, Sept. 29, from 7 to 10 p.m.

The tryouts are open to all students, including freshmen, and will be held in the Gate Theatre.

Cast for "Goodbye, My Fancy," an amusing play about college life, will include eight men and twelve women. Madeline Carroll, Conrad Nagle, and Shirley Booth starred in the play when it opened on Broadway in 1948.

The story concerns a liberal Congresswoman who returns to her old school to be awarded an honorary degree. The documentary film she has brought to show the students causes the conflict. It depicts the college president, whom she has been in love with for many years, to be a spineless, irresolute figure.

Disillusioned, she turns to a wartime acquaintance—a Life photographer, who has come to cover the event. From there on, it's just one big, happy ending.

Dr. Elden T. Smith, who will direct the play, has announced all interested students may try out. The play will be presented in November.

Upperclass Rushing Will Begin Friday

Upperclass women who wish to be rushed by sororities during this semester must register today in Dean Currier's office from 9-12 a.m. and 1-4 p.m. Rushing begins Monday and concludes at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 7.

Rushes women must make their sorority preferences from 8-9 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 11, in the dean's office and sorority bid lists are due at 9 a.m. These preferences are binding pledges on the rushee if bidden by the group. Bids will be issued Saturday, Oct. 10.

Upperclassmen must possess a 2.2 accumulative grade average and be in good standing with the Association of Women Students in order to be eligible for rushing. They cannot have been pledged to a sorority during the past calendar year. Furthermore, a 2.2 or better grade average during the semester of pledging must be maintained to go active.

All women students, including freshmen, may visit sorority houses from Monday until 7 p.m. Sunday Sept. 27. Sorority houses are now closed to freshmen women Saturday, Feb. 27. However, beginning early in February, registration, rushing and bidding of eligible freshmen women will occur. Eligibility requirements are the same as for upperclassmen.

Sorority houses will be open to all new women students including freshmen on Panhellenic Day, Saturday, Oct. 17. Guides appointed by Panhellenic Council will escort the women to each house for a twenty minute session of introduction to the sorority, conversation and snacks.

AWS officers get together with Dean of Women Florence Currier to plan picnic for the "big sisters" and "little sisters" Saturday.

AWS Features Saturday Picnic For Freshmen And "Big Sisters"

Upperclass "big sisters" will take their freshman or transfer student "little sisters" to the Association of Women Students picnic tomorrow morning at City Park.

Betty Ayers, vice-president of AWS, announced that all big and little sisters should meet in front of the Ad Bldg. at 10 a.m. Saturday. From there the group will go to City Park.

Girls living in Kohl, Shatzel, and Williams Halls, or eating at the Commons will have their lunches provided. Miss Ayers asked that girls eating at Kohl, Williams, or the Commons notify the meal-ticket checker that they will need a box lunch.

All big sisters should contact their little sisters before Saturday, Miss Ayers added. If the upperclassman's little sister does not eat on campus, the big sister is to provide the lunch for both.

Recreational facilities, directed by Ann Swigart, president of Women's Recreational Association, will include shuffleboard, baseball, and table tennis.

The big sister-little sister program is now in its second year, Miss Ayers said. Each upperclass woman who signs up to participate in the program in the spring is assigned one or two new women students to write to during the summer. They are asked to get acquainted with the girl in the fall and take her to the AWS picnic.

Grad Record Exams Given Here Nov. 14

Bowling Green is a center for the Graduate Record Examinations which are given four times a year, Nov. 14, Jan. 30, May 1, and July 10. These exams are required of applicants for admission to a number of graduate schools.

Educational Testing Service advises each applicant to inquire of the graduate school of his choice which of the examinations he should take and on which dates. Applicants for graduate school fellowships should ordinarily take the designated examinations in the fall administration.

Application forms and a Bulletin of Information, which provides details of registration and administration as well as sample questions, may be obtained from college advisers or directly from the Educational Testing Service, P.O. Box 592, Princeton, N. J., or P.O. Box 9896, Los Feliz Station, Los Angeles 27, Calif. A completed application must reach the ETS office at least 15 days before the date of the administration for which the candidate is applying.

Mature students who cannot meet entrance requirements will be admitted to any classes if they can show they are prepared to do satisfactory work in the subjects desired.

Sophomore Defy Frosh With Field Day Challenge

The annual Freshman-Sophomore Field Day on Saturday, Oct. 10 will be the first opportunity of freshman students to gain revenge for three weeks of upperclass hazing.

A full morning of competitive field games between the classes will begin at 7:30 a.m. in the area of Urschel Pond and continue until noon when the rival groups will temporarily make peace to attend the Bowling Green-Bradley, Dad's Day football game.

Knocking the morning action is the Tug-of-War across Urschel Pond. Should the freshmen win the rope pull, they may then discard their brown and orange beanies which are symbols of their underclass rating. Freshman classes for the past several years have not been the first to wet their feet in the chilly water.

However, the sophomore class is more confident of its strength as their president, Thomas Conway, predicted, "We not only intend to pull them in, but across the pond."

Optimism is running especially high with the sophomores because they won last year's tug rather handsily. Furthermore their advisor for the day is Donald Baginski, the class president whom this year's sophomore class defeated last fall.

Freshmen are required to wear their beanies to all classes and while on campus. Conway warned that freshmen caught without beanies might "find themselves submerged in the recently filled pond behind Mosley Hall."

Frosh men and women can disprove these remarks by turning out for the field events in overpowering numbers. They will be led by their class officers who are to be elected shortly, according to David Dawson, chairman of the Student Senate Elections Committee.

Soiled or unwanted clothes are in order for the day with many of those attending being sure of a dousing before the activities are over.

The sorority having the highest scholastic average receives the Esther Russell Cup.

Chief Court Justice Clarifies Car Operation Regulations

Martin Appointed To Court Position At Dinner Meeting

Student senators and officers were the guests of Pres. Ralph W. McDonald at a steak dinner in the Nest last Monday night. Charles Green, president of Senate, announced that the first official meeting of Senate would be Monday evening in the Student Center building.

Four presidential appointments were made at the dinner session. Christine Redrup was named corresponding secretary and Charles Green was chosen as chaplain for the year. A junior vacancy on Student Court was filled by Samuel Martin.

Herbert Collier was appointed chairman of a committee to investigate and recommend a new procedure for choosing cheerleaders.

The present rules governing smoking in campus dormitories and buildings will be studied by a student-faculty committee of four representatives each. The faculty members are Miss Helen Henderson, associate professor of home economics; Miss Iris Andrews, assistant professor of health and physical education; Dr. Donald Bowman, professor of physics; and Dr. Ralph Beck, associate professor of education. The student members will be named Monday.

WBGU Will Begin Regular Programs Thursday, Oct. 1

WBGU, the campus radio station, begins its regular programming schedule Oct. 1, with restricted programming beginning Monday, says Sidney Stone, director of the station.

Students from the radio production classes will make up the staff, which will be announced shortly.

A new control board is being installed in the newly constructed studio known as Studio B. It will increase operation of the station by 100 per cent. Formerly, there was only one studio in operation. Having two studios will permit rehearsals and live programs to be taped while other broadcasts are in progress.

The entire studio is now being repainted.

School Apartments 90 Per Cent Filled

Ninety per cent of the University Apartments are filled as of Sept. 22, according to information received from Dean Arch B. Conklin's office.

In comparison to last year when 66 apartments were filled, these figures are favorable. Since that time one complete unit was demolished by fire and another condemned as uninhabitable. Immediately following World War II all of the units were filled, but this condition has steadily decreased.

There are 42 married students and 20 faculty members and employees living in the apartments. Ten vacancies now exist in the apartments.

Article By Dr. Cohen In London Magazine

Dr. Jacob Cohen, assistant professor of economics at Bowling Green, is the author of a 10-page article entitled "The Element of Lottery in British Government Bonds, 1694-1919." It appears in the August issue of "Economics," the journal of the London School of Economics and Political Science.

A clarification and explanation of the rules governing operation of automobiles on campus has been made by Jerry Helwig, chief justice of Student Court.

Students may not operate an automobile on campus between 7 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday, Helwig explained. The boundaries of the campus are set at Ridge St. on the north, E. Wooster St., on the south, Thurston Dr. on the west, and Kohl Dr. on the east.

All rules pertaining to automobile operation on campus are listed in the pamphlet, available in 202 Ad Bldg., Chief of Police William Rohrs' office.

Student parking lots, for student-operated automobiles only, are located near the Stadium, the Chemistry Bldg., the Psychology Bldg., Ivy Hall, and the power plant. The latter is for frozen cars only.

Helwig pointed out that all parking lots may be reached by Thurston Dr., Ridge St., or E. Wooster St., so that there is no need to drive on Kohl Dr.

For violation of these rules, students may be fined $1 for the first offense and $3 for the second. These are:

1) operating an automobile on campus where prohibited; 2) parking other than in student parking lots on campus; 3) walking on the grass; and 4) smoking in campus buildings, where prohibited.

Campus police give citations for these violations. Fines are payable to Patricia Montgomery, Clerk of Courts at the Student Center. Any citation may be appealed to Court.

For all other violations of rules, such as reckless driving or speeding, students may be fined from $1 to $100, and the permit to operate a car may be lifted temporarily or permanently by Court.

Art Faculty Win State Fair Prizes

Three members of the art department faculty of Bowling Green University were awarded prizes in the arts and crafts division of the recent State Fair.

Philip R. Wigg, assistant professor, was awarded first prize in graphics and a second award in sculpture.

Charles Lakofsky, assistant professor was awarded first prize in miscellaneous ceramics.

Otto G. Oevirk, instructor, won a second award in graphics.

All works were entered in the professional section. Jurors were William Zorach, prominent sculptor and painter, of New York City, and Maija Grotell, well-known ceramist of Cranbrook Academy of Art, Bloomfield Hills, Mich.

Karl Richards, assistant professor, had works displayed in the watercolor and oil painting division.

Men Invited To MIS Open House

Men's Independent Society will hold an informal open house for all freshman men and transfer students Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock.

Paul Hirsch member of MIS, said all men interested in learning about MIS and its principles are invited to attend the affair in the MIS house.

New membership plans for the group will be announced soon, Hirsch said.

Newly remodeled offices of the Dean of Women and Dean of Students.

Unprecedented Opportunity

The University student body, through Student Court and Student Senate, has a fine opportunity opened before it this year.

Through a resolution of the Board of Trustees, the Student Court now has the power to levy fines and impose penalties for violations of car rules and traffic regulations. The fines levied by Court have been placed in the same category as any other penalty or fee of the University. Responsibility for handling violations of car regulations and traffic violations has been placed squarely in the hands of the Student Court.

In an informal speech to Student Senate Monday night, Pres. Ralph W. McDonald pointed out the unusual opportunity which Senate has been given this year. With the backing of 70 per cent of the student body in last spring's election, this year's Senate has a strong membership.

A greater number of students, Dr. McDonald said, will be given full, voting power on a larger number of University committees. The administration will be looking to Senate to select persons from the entire student body to fill those important committee positions.

The Student Court, the Student Center, and through them the student body itself, has been given an unprecedented opportunity to become an effective and constructive force in the governing and functioning of the University.

A Necessary Move

That line at the Nest these days appears to be the most useless change ever made here at the University. A little investigation of the reasons for the line and the writing-out of orders shows that there is a sound basis for the new system.

In the past, when a student wanted a cup of coffee, he helped himself to a cup and poured his own coffee from a pitcher on the counter. Under this new system, he stands in line, writes out his order on printed order sheets, and is served by someone behind the counter.

All this is being done for better efficiency in the new Student Union. These orders are being recorded for study by groups planning the Union. The food counter in the proposed building will be planned to best serve the wants of the majority of students, as determined by this record of orders. Loyal E. Horton, manager of the Nest, said that these records already show that more than 50 per cent of the orders are for coffee, which means the new Union should be well equipped to handle coffee demands.

Since the Nest is operated on a no-profit, no loss arrangement, all food sold is paid for and accounted for, with the use of these written order sheets.

We can offer one tip, suggested by Mr. Horton, for getting faster service: students can go around others waiting for an order, and move on down the line to give their own order.

At best, however, the new system is going to remain slower than the service in previous years. We could be philosophical and noble and say that this one of the "hardships" present students must "suffer" in the interests of better facilities for future students. Annoying as the system is, we must admit that it is a necessary move, if the planned student union is to serve the needs of University students.

About Six-Page Issues

We would like to explain some of the difficulties involved in putting out a six-page issue of the News, such as the one of last Tuesday. Having an insert page naturally requires a longer printing time to do the six pages. This, then, means the papers are late in arriving at the University, and does not generally allow the staff time to insert the extra pages into the four-page section. Where there are two sections to the B-G News, be sure to pick up both on the tables on either side of the Well. For regular editions the papers will be out at 10 o'clock.

This Week's Inquiring Reporter Asks:

The situation and arrangement at the Falcon's Nest is entirely different this year than last year. Last year, the food counter was partly self service, the tables were pushed together forming a few long tables instead of many short ones and dancing was allowed in the back room only. This year, a menu slip is supposed to be filled out, the tables are divided individually and dancing is allowed in the front room reserving the back room strictly for television. The following are the opinions of a few students concerning the changes.

Table Arrangement Liked

Mary Lewis, a junior, states that the idea of the individual tables is good as they are kept a lot cleaner and are more informal for groups. "If the idea of filling out the menu is only a survey, it should be held just for the beginning of the semester as it holds up the line," she states further.

"I don't like the way the counter service is arranged this year," states Mel Hoover, sophomore, "because it takes too long. A person can't run in between classes for a cup of coffee because of the longer time involved." He does like the way the tables are arranged, though, because he doesn't like to sit down with a stranger when the tables are filled.

Considered Waste of Time

Freshman, Ruth Wolcott, also believes that ordering food takes too much time, but likes the table arrangement because it is informal and easier to talk to friends when they are all sitting together. "I think the idea of dancing is great, though, but I think that I would like it better in the back room."

Edward Grover, senior, says "It's a long wait for a cup of coffee and I don't think it will last." The idea of the separate tables is nice, he believes.

"I like it much better," says Mary Jo Krawetzke, junior. "The tables are arranged better making it informal and much easier to talk to people and the filling out of the menu is a good idea because it makes it easier for the employees to understand what you want," she states.

Thora Tait, senior, says that her main objection is that the counter arrangement is too time consuming and that she prefers the idea of the back room used for dancing instead of the front room. "Truthfully, I like it better the way it was last year."

Says Menus Have Got To Go

"The filling out of the menu has got to go," says Alvin Rowe, junior. He believes that it causes an unnecessarily long line and too much waiting. He approves of the table arrangement because he thinks that it is easier to talk to friends. As for dancing in the front room he says, "Most kids come to talk instead of to dance."

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

The entertainers who provided such top-notch entertainment for the campus in the UCF-LSA variety show last Sunday night deserve public thanks and a vote of applause from the students. They deserve this because they provided the campus with a quality of entertainment that is very rarely found with no remuneration except the satisfaction of a job well done, despite a limited amount of time in which to prepare.

I want to personally thank all of them for taking the time to be in the show.

Prof Goes To Pen To Do Research For Correction Dept.

By PATRICIA GUTHMAN

Joseph K. Balogh, associate professor of sociology, visited San Quentin penitentiary for the second consecutive summer. He spent six and a half weeks engaged in research for the California Department of Corrections. He was engaged in the program of in-service training for correctional officers at San Quentin and semantic training for inmates.

As part of this project he taught classes to correctional officers on penal reforms, interviewed them, and had them fill out questionnaires. The object of his research was to improve the staff at the state penitentiary through a knowledge of penology.

Joined Classes of Inmates

For the other part of his research he joined classes of inmates studying semantics, the study of words, their moral, spiritual and philosophical meaning. Attendance at these classes was not compulsory, any inmate could attend the sessions which were held for two hours on Saturday afternoons.

Dr. Balogh spent six hours every evening talking to a group of 11 convicts, gathering information on their lives. Four were in for life, having murdered their wives, one was a cattle rustler, one was a burglar, and the others were serving time for armed robbery. He spent some time during the day talking to other inmates and said that the cooperation was outstanding. There was no ill feeling toward him and inmates had no qualms about telling him their life histories.

Prisoners Well Fed

The reason Dr. Balogh thinks there have been no riots at San Quentin is because the prisoners are well fed and are kept busy. The employment is strictly voluntary and the men choose their own jobs. In the prison the men may learn a trade such as auto mechanics, furniture maker, carpentry, or machinist. For the men who wish to broaden their knowledge there is a prison library with over 100,000 volumes.

The two big problems, as in many prisons are over population and sex perversion, stated Dr. Balogh.

The guards at San Quentin don't carry guns or clubs, Dr. Balogh stated. The warden, Harley Teets, at 44, is one of the youngest in the country. He makes a habit of walking in the prison yard without an escort of guards. Warden Teets feels that this helps to boost prisoner morale.

Dr. Balogh revealed that the average length of time served for a life sentence today is between seven and nine years. The emphasis now is on rehabilitation rather than incarceration.

Short Last Mile

The last mile at San Quentin is just three yards, because the cell where the prisoner spends his last day is across the hall from the gas chamber. Executions are held on Friday at 10 p.m. and anyone receiving a pass from the warden may watch. In Ohio only 12 people may watch an electrocution.

"The gas chamber is the most humane method of execution, be-

B-G To Meet Miami In MAC Opener Saturday

Throwing a jump pass in a practice session to Little All-American Jim Ladd, is Jim Bryan. Bryan threw over the .500 mark in last week's game against Youngstown College.

John Ladd Injured, Will Miss Tilt; Jim Bryan To Be Field General

By DON GETTER

Bowling Green will open the Mid-American Conference season Saturday when they meet the powerful Miami University squad on the Redskins' home field.

The game will mark the eleventh meeting of the two schools. The record now stands at 8-2 in the Redskin's favor. Miami has won the last eight tilts with the Falcon gridders.

Last year the Falcons went down to defeat 42-7. Coach Bob Whittaker says this will be the Falcons' toughest game of the year, and it will be very hard to keep the score down under 60 points. Coach Whittaker states, "Miami is just too big and too tough; they are just out of our class."

The Falcon charges will be hampered even more in this game with the possible loss of John Ladd through a practice injury during the week. Naturally Coach Whittaker is hoping for Ladd's recovery before the Saturday tilt, but the future isn't too bright at the present time. Coach Whittaker states that Ladd is the best running back the ball club has this year, and his loss will be felt very much.

Sophomore quarterback Jim Bryan ran the ball club very well in the Youngstown game, which the Orange and Brown lost 20-7, but he just doesn't have much to go with him, according to Whittaker.

Coach Whittaker does have the advantage of one game's experience on Miami's coach, Ara Parseghian. This will be the Redskins' opening encounter of the season.

With the loss of Bob Dallas to the Army, Harold Bruck is expected to fill in at the guard position in place of Dallas. Halfback Tommy Thomas, who missed the opener with a sprained ankle, expects to be ready for Saturday's game. Parseghian also has his worries in the Miami opener. One of the houses in this part of the country besides the regular MAC opponents. Included are such teams as Xavier, Tennessee Tech, Dayton, and powerful Cincinnati. The Falcons travel again next week. They play Temple under the lights Oct. 2 in Philadelphia. The BG band will accompany the team.

Kent To Furnish Opposition For B-G In Homecoming Tilt

Homecoming week end dates have been set for Oct. 30, 31, and Nov. 1. The football game this year will be with Kent State University. The annual alumni luncheon will be held Saturday noon. Further plans will be announced at a later date.

Football schedule for this fall is as follows:
Sept. 26—at Miami
Oct. 2—at Temple (Night)
Oct. 10—BRADLEY
Oct. 17—at Baldwin-Wallace (Night)

Oct. 24—TOLEDO
Oct. 31—KENT STATE (Homecoming)
Nov. 7—HEIDELBERG
Nov. 14—at Ohio University

The trip to Temple University in Philadelphia is the first eastern inter-sectional showing for the Falcons and the first athletic relations with the eastern institution. Heidelberg College, Tiffin, is also a newcomer to the BGSU schedule.

Again the Falcons will play the same four Mid-American teams as last year, Miami and Ohio University, the only teams to defeat Bob Whittaker's team last season, are the conference road teams while Toledo and Kent State are the home games.

Tennis Squad Meeting Is Called By Coach

Tennis Coach Charles Johnson has called a meeting for all those interested in playing on the tennis squad. It will be held in 103 Men's Gym at 4 p.m., Monday, Sept. 28.

'Bear' Piles Up 63 Victories In 12 Years At Falcons' Helm

By HAL VAN TASSEL

It would be very fitting and proper if the Burnt Orange and Seal Brown football uniforms which take to the local gridiron on Saturdays would be wearing sleekly silver attire. The silver would be in commemoration for head coach Bob Whittaker who is celebrating his twenty-fifth anniversary in the coaching field.

The "Bear" has been at the helm of Falcon bone bruisers for 12 years. In that length of time he has piled up an enviable record. The "Bear's" 63 victories far overshadow the 35 setbacks and seven ties. BG men have rolled up a total of 1,920 points to the foes' 1,367. His overall average is a respectable .633.

THE "BEAR"

Coach Whittaker came to Bowling Green from Sandusky where his teams produced a quintet of years in the selected undefeated circle. President Emeritus Dr. Frank J. Prout, who had been superintendent of the Sandusky school system, persuaded the "Bear" to move his talents to Bowling Green in 1941.

Proving his ability, Whittaker produced one of the most successful seasons in the record book. He has been below the .500 mark just two seasons, 1948 and 1949. Last year the Falcon eleven scored 257 points to write a new record in the BG books.

Whittaker himself had quite a colorful college career at Miami University. While at the Oxford school he played four years football with such teammates as Paul Brown and "Weeb" Ewbank. The restless young athlete also took part in the track program. He ran the dashes and threw the javelin to a new Redskin record.

When Whittaker was asked about 25 years of coaching he said, "I wouldn't want to go through it again." He commented that one of his greatest thrills was in 1947 when Kent State had the Falcons 18-7 with four and one half minutes to go. When the final gun sounded the Orange and Brown were on top 21-18.

Fred Durig and Jack Woodland rate top berths on the "Bear's" offensive back field. His choice for top passer goes to Max Minnich of the star-studded 1948 squad. Stan Yoder, of the 1941 contingent, is the top griddier for defensive back. Wayne Bordner, whom Whittaker said was an "outstanding end," would take all the line honors.

"Coaching has changed a great deal; it used to be for the sport only, now it is a business." That was one of the statements made

Four Rule Changes In Touch Football

There will be four major amendments to the intramural football rules this season, according to the Intramurals Office.

This year, any number of forward and backward passes may be attempted from any point on the field. No blocking will be permitted except at the line of scrimmage, with the exception being an offensive player blocking for his passer. Other rule changes consider that a one-hand tag below the shoulders and above the knees legally "downs" a man. On punts, the offensive team shall be required to inform the defense before punting, and the defensive team is not allowed across the line of scrimmage.

Fraternity football will begin Oct. 5, while Independents will take up action on Oct. 6. The date entries will be due is to be announced later.

while discussing the transition of football in the last 12 years. "We used to get men, now they're kids," stated Whittaker.

This year is classified as a "building up season" by the "Bear." "It is the lightest team we have ever had, but if they just relax and have some fun we'll come out all right," he said. Good luck, "Bear," we only hope we're around to see the Golden Anniversary game.

Redskins all-time great backs, Tom Pagna, will be out of the BG game. Being drafted is guard Ralph Zurbrugg, while Jerry Wampfler, first string tackle, will also miss Saturday's tilt.

However, halfback Ed Merchant will be back after a few weeks in the hospital with a strep throat. The other halfback spot will be handled by either Tirrell Burton or Tom Troxell. The fullback will be Bob Bronston, with Dick Hunter at quarterback.

As a halfback in his first collegiate appearance last year, Hunter netted 107 yards against BG, so he will be a marked man in this year's tilt.

Cinema Club Shows German Horror Film

"The Cabinet Of Dr. Galigari," a German horror film will highlight the first meeting of the Cinema Club, which will meet Monday in the Chemistry Lecture Room at 7 p.m.

The film, made in 1919, is considered by many critics as the most noted and interesting of German films and was the first horror picture. Also on the program are three shorts which show the history of films, beginning with the primitive German films of 1896 through an excerpts of "The Golem" made in 1920.

There are still tickets available for the current season. Memberships are $3.50 per semester or $6 per year. Reservations for membership may be made with Miss Virginia Merrell at the University.

Weekend Activities Include DZ Dance Parties And Movies

Although many students will migrate to Oxford for the Miami-Bowling Green football game, social life on campus is still predominate for the weekend.

Dancing beneath the stars will be the theme of the Delta Zeta's annual "Starlight Street Dance" being held Saturday night in the Women's Gym from 9 to 12 p.m.

Decorations for the dance include a ceiling of stars, street lamps, and park benches. The general effect should make everyone feel as though they are dancing out-of-doors.

Chairmen for the dance are Joyce Crede, general chairman; Lynn Ray, publicity; Dorothy Cooley, band stand; and Joy Traver, programs. Couples will dance to the music of The Pastell's Dance Band.

Friday night the Delta Tau Del-tas will have a hayride for Delts and dates. The same evening, the Sigma Chi's will hold an open house with the theme "Welcome Back."

If you see gangsters with guns and gun molls heading toward the Delt Shelter on Saturday night, you'll know they're dressed in accordance to their "Gangster Party" theme. Chairman for the party, Frank Fusco, reveals the house will be completely renovated for the ty Library or at the door Monday night.

Members of the Cinema Club will see outstanding screen personalities this year, including Tallulah Bankhead, W. C. Fields, Greta Garbo, Peter Lorre, Jean Harlow, Rene Clair, Theda Bara, Mary Pickford, John Gilbert, Emil Jannings and Lionel Barrymore.

The club is a non-profit group organized in 1950 to promote the appreciation of the film. It is supported by subscriptions and contributions of its members.

Smith Shows Slides Of Jamaica At UCF Friday Forum Meeting

Slides taken on a summer trip to Jamaica by Charles F. Smith, a sophomore from Cleveland, will be shown at the first United Christian Fellowship Friday Forum at 6:30 p.m. at the Wesley Bldg.

Smith was one of 19 men and women from the U.S. to attend the first Jamaican Workshop sponsored by the United Christian Missionary Society. The members of the camp met in St. Petersburg, Fla., for orientation, June 19. From Miami the group was flown via Pan-American Airlines to Kingston, Jamaica, where they were met by seven Jamaicans to make a total of 26 participating in the work-camp.

The camp project was to build a church in the mountains at Dallas, about 30 miles from Kingston. In approximately seven weeks the group constructed the church from cement blocks which they made themselves. Smith returned to Cleveland, Aug. 7.

During free hours, the work-camp members were free to visit the island. They visited government buildings, public schools, and King's House, at which Queen Elizabeth will stay when she visits Jamaica.

Smith will show slides, and examination papers he received while party with a combo supplying the music.

The Zeta Beta Taus will officially welcome back all their friends with a party on Saturday night. The Sigma Chi's will hold a closed party for members and dates, including dancing and refreshments.

Among other names registered on the Saturday night party-giving schedule will be Sigma Nu, Theta Chi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Phi Kappa Psi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Pi Kappa Alpha.

Greek Groups Fill Six Vacancies With New Housemothers

Several new housemothers have been employed by fraternities and sororities this year.

Mrs. Malissa Dewan, the new Phi Kappa Psi housemother, was employed by the University when R-8, now the Men's Independent Society, was first opened. She has also been the housemother for the Women's Independent Society. Mrs. Dewan is the mother of Mrs. Willard Wankelman.

Mrs. P. G. Demmell, a former hostess of the Fostoria Women's Club, has been employed by Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Zeta Beta Tau has obtained Mrs. Harry Grossfield who has been employed at Northwestern and the University of Minnesota.

Mrs. Lucy Easley, also of Fostoria has been employed by Delta Upsilon.
